Addresses Are Made, and Pupils Receive Prizes for Their Ability in Education and Arts.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Fredericksburg, Va., May 2.—A large crowd attended the school fair at Courtland District held at Massaponax, in Spotsylvania County, ten miles from this city. Addresses were made by Professor E. H. Russell and Professor K. J. Moore, of the Fredericksburg State Normal School, and by Mrs. O. D. Hatfield, a native of Mexico, who made an interesting talk on education and the life among the Mexicans, both rich and poor. She is highly educated. Her address was exceedingly interesting both to children and grown persons. A number of prizes were awarded for work of the children, including compositions, poems, specimens of cooking and other arts. School fairs are becoming quite popular in this part of the State, and have always drawn large and interested crowds.

Some time ago the City Council raised the license for certain soft drinks to what was thought to be a prohibitive amount, but to the surprise, not only to the Councilmen but a number of others, one dealer has taken out a license, and is privileged to sell that noxious of drinks for the ensuing twelve months.

Crosses of honor will be bestowed on Confederate veterans, or their descendants, who have not heretofore been furnished with a Cross of honor, by the Daughters of the Confederacy. Blanks must be filled and returned by May 15, and the ceremony of bestowing the crosses will take place on May 15.

Fredericksburg is improving the White Oak Road, and some gravel on the farm of S. L. Lupton, near this city, was needed. The law gives the county the right to use gravel borders on the public roads for improving highways, but when the road force attempted to enter Mr. Lupton's farm, he protested vigorously, and he and his wife blocked the way, placing Sergeant Chickens of the city, present, and prevailed on Mr. and Mrs. Lupton not to interfere further, but to let the damages be settled through the courts. Mr. Lupton said a large quantity of gravel was in Fredericksburg, and contends that the county should pay him the same price as he receives in the city. The case will be threshed out in the courts. Mr. Lupton came here and employed an attorney.

markable coincidence that his partner in the milling business, W. E. Manor, met a similar death two years before to the day and hour. At 11:30 P. M. on the afternoon of April 12, 1912, William E. Manor died suddenly while attending to a matter of business in the First National Building.

Mr. Manor is survived by his widow, who was Miss Fannie H. Manor, and four children: Mrs. E. R. Lane-weaver and John G. Manor, town recorder and John G. Manor, Jr., of the National Bank; Bradley Manor, of Vancouver, B. C.; and Edward Manor, of Woodbury, N. J. He was once brother, Dr. L. B. Manor, of the Gahyville, a widely known physician.

A half brother, Captain William B. Manor, died last September. Mr. Manor's mother was a Miss Gibbons, a member of the Methodist church. He was a Mason, a member of the board of stewards of the Methodist Church, and for seven years a teacher in the Sunday school. Before entering the milling business he was in the wholesale grocery business.
